THOUSANDS AT AIR CIRCUS

THINKING OUT LOUD

By H. M. L.

The world do move, as our farmer neighbors used to say when the writer of this column was a spindling youth on a ranch west of Santa Barbara, and of course we oldsters are enxious that it move in the right direction, economically, socially and politically.

Just now we beileve the world is moving, sometimes directly, and sometimes by a zigzag path toward another war. We are not placing the blame for this on anybody but the American people themselves. We have often wished that our statesmen had a little more acumen in world affairs, but we doubt whether that would change the world direction much, even if they were as wise as we could wish.

We think the clamor to bring the "boys home" after the VJ-Day is an expression of that isolationism and overconfidence that the American people have always shown. We as a people could not realize that our good old U. S. A. had now arrived at maturity was 21 and entirely on its own and thenceforth literally, must make its own woy in the world. For a century or such a matter, we oldsters can remember our country leaned rather heavily on the British navy, especially as regards maintaining the Monroe Doctrine in Latin America.

This old ingrained idea of isolation which defeated the effective use of the League of Nations as an instrument of world peace is gradually vanishing. The fact that we have our Marines in China, and 250,000 troops in Japan, and perhaps as many in Germany, and that our navy has several first class ships at the moment in the Adriatic and the Mediterranean, indicates that our leadership understand the role we should play in international affairs, and will play it we will do our part here at home and fill the ranks that have been depleted by the cry, "bring the boys home."

Of course, anyone, including this writer, would like to bring the boys home and keep them here. But we have to face the fact that these boys of ours are overseas now doing a job that badly need doing for their country.

Consider for a moment the numbers of those who died in the late war to put down fascism and to make the world safer for us and other democracies that resemble ours. Consider those who died in tne first world war. We have gambled over a half a million lives, and ruined countless other lives in order to put across our way of life, as nearly as we can approximate it, in the world.. .The immediate reason, as the late President Roosevelt said, was for our own survival, but it now appears we shall not survive unless we follow through..

Communism, as exemplified in Russia is not an economy, though it has all the ugly faults of state socialism, it is not a way of life, but rather a way of universal slavery. It is, in fact, a religion and the fanaticism of that religion is demonstrated in practically every word Mr. Molotov utters in his conferences with other statesmen in the meeting now going forward in Paris, and echoed efectively by his subordinates in all gatherings of world powers to discuss peace. .

Russia is well aware that she stands at the cross roads today. She either must subside and be content to live in peace with other nations who value their way of life, or must in the near future perhaps five, ten of fifteen years fight a bloody battle to attain that wold supremacy in whch a small oligarchy can hold power by the same means that Stalin came to power and has held power in his own country. Americans we believe are beginning to see that Russian dominance is just as vicious as Hitlerian Germany's overlordship might have been.

We haven't mentioned A bombs, for we do not believe their effect in determining the course the world will take, will determine it any more, if as much, as other war weapons have in the past. Its effect on Hiroshima of course was intensely destructive. No bomb in history, ever wrought a tenth of the destruction. But Hiroshima was a paper city. The bombs our scientists now make must be far more destructive than that one. But even with all the disaster they can bring, they will not change the hearts of men and that is the most important change needed.

We must work for peace, but let us not lower our guard, disband our fighting forces and destroy our fighting machines, until we know that a small group of fanatic despots, who have bought a nation that were lately slaves into a greater slavery, have given up their conquest of the planet we live on.

U. S. Sen. Knowland To Be Welcomed Thursday

United States Senator William Knowland will visit Grass Valley on Thursday, September 5th, and C. R. Clinch, chairman of the Knowland Campaign Committee for Nevada County, has announced that a complimentary breakfast will be given the Senator at the Bret Harte Inn at 8 o'clock that morning..

California is a big state, and it takes more time than is available to visit all the communities. For that reason his time in Grass Valley will be short.

While Senator Knwoland is of course campaigning for votes he is also interested in the needs of the state and its subdivisions, and he will appreciate meeting men of all poliitcal beliefs at the breakfast. Reservations may be made by ringing the Bret Harte Inn or through Mr. Clinch at his home in advance of the day.

Senator Knowland has been very active since his appointment by Governor Warren and his ideas have been given serious consideration by the thoughtful men in the national congress. It will be a pleasure for many Grass Valley and Nevada City voters to gather upon this occasion.

Clinch in accepting the post of Nevada County chairman of the senator's campaign, said:

"Senator Knowland's record since appointment to the senate by Governor Earl Warren is behind my decision to actively campaign for his return to that seat.

"In less than a year Knowland has placed before the senate as many constructive proposals as anyone on the floor.

"As chairman of the Nevada County Committee for Knowland, I am calling upon Democrats and Republicans, who believe in a free economy and the American way, to join in our campaign to return Bill Knowland to the senate on November 5."

BEALE SOLDIER 'OVER THE HILL' FOR 9481 DAYS

Clarence Dowd, Camp Beale veteran's councillor recently told of his surprise, when a soldier about to be discharged, admitted being AWOL 9481 days.

The "veteran" stated he had been inducted into the army September 14, 1919. He was born in 1896. After serving 1 year he grew "tired" and "went over the hill" 26 years gao.

He might still be AWOL but after a falling out with his wife last spring, she reported him to the army. Military police caught up with him last April. He is being given a "blue" discharge, neither honorable or dishonorable..

Dowd said the "veteran" fidgeted and twiddled the pen a moment or two before signing his name to documents pertaining to his discharge.

As he signed his real name, he remarked wistfully, "That's the first time I've used that name in more than twenty five years."

AIR SHOW FEATURES ARMY JET PLANES

Nevada City's Municipal Airport is today the scene of a gala air circus, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce as a benefit to, and a means of publicizing our airport, the finest in Nevada County.

PIONEER AERONAUT

Lyman Gilmore, grand old man of Nevada County aviation and honored guest at the air circus today, is shown examining a photograph of his 1907 model plane.

Features of the show, which started at 11 a. m. , are as follows: A model airplane exhibition, with local and out of town groups competing with tiny gasoline engined models. Aerial acrobatics in which Army and Navy planes will participate. A woman parachute jumper. New planes will be exhibited and demonstrated. An army recruiting service musical show. Ample arrangements for refreshments and concessions.

Among the honored guests are Congressman Clair Engle and Lyman Gilmore, poneer aeroaut of this city. Members of California flying clubs are expected to arrive at the airport in their own planes during the day, in response to invitations from the Chamber of Commerce.

The air show is insured for $100,000 with Lloyd's of London, at a cost of $247.

There will be ample parking space for both airplanes and cars. The recently oiled airport is not dusty now. Advance ticket sales indicate a large crowd.

One of the great features of the day occurs when the armys new jet planes fly over the field. Landing distance required by these planes at the terrific speeds at which they set down is so great they will not be able to land.

Lyman Gilmore, veteran aviation enthusiast, and jioneer aeronaut, said, in speaking of the air circus and recent aeronautical developments: 'I see the civilian airplane like the automobile, being used by every one. It will be kept in a small hangar like an automobile garage, and be ready to take off and speed away into the mountains and alight anywhere, any time, summer or winter. It will light on top of any hotel, or in a city lot, for man is going to take to the air—I don't mean maybe."

"One thousand years hence, I see soldiers marching on motor cycles of the air. See man travelng from his work in the city and back 100 miles and more in a jiffy. Man has mastered the air."

HEAVY ATOMIC PROJECTILES ARE PREDICTED

BERKELEY, Sept. 2 — Possible use of atomic projectiles three times as heavy as any now in practical use is suggested by two University of California scientists..

The suggestion is made by Dr. Emilio Segre, professor of physics, and Dr. Cornelius Tobias, instructor in medical physics, in an article in the current Physical Review.

The results of the experiments originated by Professor Luis Alvarez were first reported by Professor Ernest O. Lawrence director of the Radiation Labortary late in 1941 but publication of details has been held up by the war.

In the light of wartime developments in nuclear physics the experiments pose new possibilities for atomic research.

Drs. Segre and Tobias, using the 225 ton cyclotron on the Berkeley campus accelerated the nuclei of carbon to energies of 96 million electron volts though the beam of projectiles was not very intense because it is difficult to strip the six electrons from the carbon nuclues.

If methods can be devised to overcome the technical problem the use of nuclei of elements heavier than ordinary atomic bullets, such as carbon would be valuable new additions to the arsenal of atom smashing.

Heavy atomic bullets might make it possible to produce new transuranic elements or to cause in many elements fission of a type which because it would not be chain reacting could not be used in an atomic bomb but which might yield new information about the atom.

Forestry Crew Battles Fire In Grass Valley Home

Both organizations pumped large quantities of water into the flames but were unable to save house or furnishings. State officials determined cause to be faulty wiring.

Several of the ribs in his right side were broken. He was returned to Nevada City by ambulance and is now in the Miners Hospital here. JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder when a garden
Is lacking proper care
And we see with consternation,
Weeds appearing here and there,
If a little job of weeding,
Greatly needed, goodness knows,
Would cause a rose to blossom
Where now the pig weed grows.

I wonder if there is anything more abjectly forlorn than a neglected garden. Weeds multiply so rapidly. Flowers are choked out, strange, unlovely growths take the place of the lily and the rose, soon the entire garden becomes unkempt—frowsy.

We turn from such a sight with feelings of acute regret and ask, indignantly, "why doesn't the owner do something about it?"

At the mention of a garden, we are at once reminded of bits of terrain, set apart for the cultivation of flowers, vegetables or choice fruits; but are there not many gardens of vastly more importance? What of the garden of the mind, the garden of the heart and the garden of that often times sadly neglected possession, which we call "our vocabulary?"

It is easy to weed a flower garden; all one has to do, is to sally forth and lay determined hands upon unwelcome intruders and presto—the weeds disappear as though by magic; but it is not so easy to rid the vocabulary of undesirable words and phrases—I know.

What nemesis haunts the garden of your vocabulary? Is it a slang expression, a grammatical error of long standing, a word twisted from its legitimate meaning and forced to perform fantastic tricks for which it has no aptitude? Of course, we are remembered by our deeds, and loved for what we are, but is it not equally true that we are judged by our habits of speech?

By all means let's weed the vocabulary garden. It might be fun to set about eradicating the words and phrases which have crept into our daily speech and in substituting for their constant use, words and phrases more in keeping with the genius of our beautiful language, more in conformity with our ideals of what constitutes the proper use of our mother tongue.

We are salesmen, you know, each one of us and our vocabulary is our first line of contact. No one wishes to make a bad impression upon even a chance acquaintance, but often times the words we use and our manner of speaking them is not only unlovely, but positively repellant. We need not make our language stilted or pendantic, but we can do a little job of weeding and then give utterance to words, phrases and sentences with the comfortable assurance that we are not offending the good taste of another.

Uncle Silas says: "My vocabulary is in an awful condition: it needs stream lining—it sure does." A. Merriam Conner.

GOVERNOR BACKS BOND ISSUE FOR VETERANS

By CNPA Service

Gov. Earl Warren today gave strong backing to Propostiion No. 1 on the November 5 ballot. In a forceful letter to Ed W. Bolt, chairman of the Veterans Homes and Farms Committee the governor wrote:

"I want you to know that I am heartily in favor of the Veterans Home and Farm bond issue which will be submitted to a vote of the people on the November ballot. This act if approved will autharize the issuance of $100,000,000 in bonds to provide funds for carrying out the purpose of the California Veterans Farm and Home Purchase Act.

"During its 25 years of existence this plan of financing the purchase of farms and homes by California veterans has proved to be the most successful veteran legislation in the history of our state. Created in 1921 and offered to the veterans of California in lieu of a cash bonus, its benefits—to the veteran and the community—have been far reaching and continuous.

"The project has been entirely successful from the point of view of the state inasmuch as it has been entirely self supporting. It has not resulted in any charge upon the taxpayers.

"It was inevitable and logical that this financing plan should be extended to the veterans of World War II. Accordingly, legislation was enacted in 1943 to this end. Then in 1944, the people approved a $30,000,000 bond issue to provide funds for making these home and farm purchase loans.

"In the meantime the legislature with my approval has improved and liberalized the provisions of the law for both World War I and World War II veterans. The maximum purchase price allowed for the acquisition of homes and farms has been substantially increased so that a veteran may acquire his home and farm with a minimum outlay of his own funds. The interest rate on the loans has been reduced from 5 per cent to 3 per cent, effecting a substantial reduction in the required monthly installment. The home protection plan of life insurance has been made available at a very low premium rate, enabling the veteran purchaser to create an estate for his family in the event of his death prior to full payment of his purchase contract. The service charge formerly added to the loan has been eliminated and we are now in process of refunding this charge on earlier loans. Restrictions which previously prevented a veteran from receiving the benefits of the farm and home purchase act in the event he accepted educational assistance from the state have been cancelled.

"These steps were taken in order to put the state through its department of veterans affairs and veterans welfare board, in a position to assist the returned veterans as far as possible in re-establishing himself in the life of his community. In my opinion no greater service could be rendered by our state government, particularly when the program is completely self liquidating..

"We have many times the number of veterans who saw service in World War II than we had as a result of World War I. It is highly desirable to provide adequate funds for continuing the farm and home purchase program. The $100,000,000 bond issue will be put to excelletn use. I sincerely hope that your committee will put forth every effort to acquaint the voters of California with its essential character. I am sure that this activity on your part will contribute to its being approved by an everwhelming majority of the people. You may be sure of my wholehearted cooperation in your endeeavor. Sincerely

Earl Warren, Governor."

NEVADA CITY

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
—AND—
FIFTY YEARS AGO

NEVADA CITY 75 YEARS AGO

The Oakland school was to open with Miss O. E. Miller as teacher.

The Rev. Mr. Blasesley, editor of the Pacific, was in town on business. M. S. Deal had made Mr. Blakesley's acqaintance while crossing the plains in 1849.

Mrs. Elizabeth Cady Stanton, celebrated advocate and lecturer of Women's Rights was to lecture at the theatre in this city.

Tom Caifield of the Fire Boys' Saloon was presented with a silver brick by Senator Phelan of Virginia City beautifully polished and suitably insribed..

The city was scene of a large Republican meeting and torchlight procession in support of Newton Booth for governor.. Main St., Commercial St., Pine St., Boulder St., Sacramento St., Aristocracy Hill, all were brilliantly illuminated. The palatial residence of L. W. Williams especially attracted a great deal of attention.

Item: Many hen roosts have been robbed of late by the heathen Chinee. Gov. Haights "elder brethren." It is presumed that these fowls will be found on Commercial St., as there has been onsiderable stir in China-town ever since the news came that Haight was to speak here. Another dinner, probably, for the governor.

Item: Our local has been interviewing an intellgient Chinaman in regard to Gov. Haight. He reports that Gov. Haight stands very high with his countrymen, "velly good man Glubernent Hate. He no proud, he eatee allee same Chinaman. Lots Chinaman come to California since Glub Hate own this state and he their friend."

NEVADA CITY 50 YEARS AGO

Seventy Digger Indians had for several days been assembling at the campoodie about a mile and a half west of town for the annual cry over the dead of their tribe who had died in this vicinity. It was the usual custom among the Diggers to burn the bodies of the dead and bury the ashes.. If the deceased had a wife she went into mourning by having warm tar spread over her head until a thick black coating was formed. Tar was also smeared over the fact, leaving a little skin exposed around the eyes, nose and mouth. The ashes of Indians who had died in this vicinity had been for many years buried at Ragon Flat. The only instance wherein their form of burial was deviated from was in the case of Captain Jim, who had died recently and who was for a long time the chief of the local branch of the tribe. Although he had large holes punched in his ears and wore round pieces of wood or bone through them and always went barefooted, he requested that he be buried according to the fashion of the pale face..

Bride Who Wore Boots Now Local Screen

"The Bride Who Wore Boots" which opened last night on the screen of the Nevada Theatre and plays tonight and tomorrow night is one of those dramas which begins seriously with an occasional laugh, but ends with hilarity unlimited.

It is the story of a married couple in which the woman is a horse lover and the husband a horse hater. It is played all over the state of Virginia with a domestic battle at every stop and finally comes a cropper in the divorce court. Shortly after the divorce, obtained on trivial grounds, at a horse race that is filled with big laughs the pair are reconciled.

Barbara Stanwyck and Hobart Cummings play the two top roles

Francis Smith, 15, Critically Burned

Francis Smith, 15, son of Mrs. Bernice Bennetts of 122 Park Avenue is under treatment at a local hospital for serious burns suffered when he accidentally set fire to his clothes while trying to burn a tree stump at his home.

He was using a kerosene torch. Through a mishap the instrument sprayed lighted kerosene on his trousers and tee shirt. He first plunged into a puddle of wet mud and attempted to put out the fire. This failed and he ran into the yard of a neighbor, Frank Ducotey, turned on a water spray and lay under it, finally quenching the fire. .

His mother heard his cries for help and with the aid of an unidentified motorist, rushed him to a local hospital where at last reports his condition was critical.

Deer Killed In 16 Days 6206

California hunters have taken 6,206 deer during the past 16 days of the season now open, reports Joseph Hunter, chief, Bureau of game conservation, Division of Fish and Game. The five leading counties are Mendocino, Lake, Sonoma, Los Angeles and Glenn. In 1945, 5197 deer had been taken by the same date but some districts had been open for 22 days while two other areas had been open only for 12 days and 8 days. With 25 days remaining in the present open season a new record will probably be made for the total number of deer taken..
